

METHOD OF FULL-DUPLEX RECORDING FOR A COMMUNICATIONS HANDSET

5

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of full-duplex recording for a communications handset includes steps of receiving a first stream of encoded information frames, receiving a stream of information samples, encoding the stream of information samples to 10 generate an additional stream of encoded information frames, and generating a single stream of encoded information frames from the first stream of encoded information frames and the additional stream of encoded information frames.